THERE WILL BE SLIME

We went behind the scenes to check out Nickelodeon's WIKKID new show Slime Cup!

SLIME SEASON

16 two-person teams have been picked out of thousands of auditions. Each week, four teams will go head-to-head on the slime filled battlefield, with only one team emerging victorious. The final four teams will duke it out at the Slime Cup Grand Finals.

Anyone got a towel?

In the NOSE RUN, players will face a never-ending stream of snotty slime and pull boogers out of a giant nose.

The competitors will have to crawl through a web of wires in the TRIAL BY WIRE challenge. But watch out: they're booby-trapped to drop dust bombs onto the unsuspecting victim.

Slime Cup isn't just a physical challenge. Players will have to stomach some disgusting dishes in the FAST FOOD challenge!

The players aren't the only ones at the risk of a severe gross out. Their family members will be placed in the STANK TANK. The slowest time for the first challenge will result in a dank stanking for mum or dad!

Ew, crickets! I wanted snails!

I wonder what he's thinking about?

When facing the GRIM SWEEPER, the players have two choices: dodge the giant, fast-spinning arm or get knocked into a pool of thick slime.

The team's dodging skills will be put to the test during the BOULDER DASH. They've gotta get out of the way of giant slime balls, or be flattened into giant slimy pancakes!

They'll also have to keep steady when they face the BACKLOG – a giant hanging log that'll knock'em down if they aren't careful.

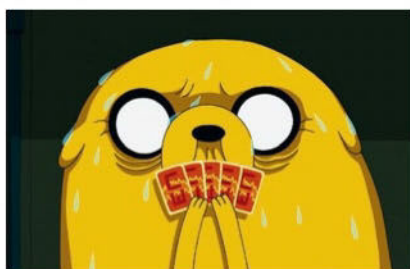

The recipe for Nickelodeon's slime is a secret, but we managed to smuggle a slime sample back to the MANIA laboratory. Here's what we know:

Old banana peels
Rotten eggs
Echidna snot (to make it extra slimy)
Sweaty socks
(Crushed up bug guts (for colour)

Be in it to win it when Slime
Cup premieres Friday 1st

Looking for something a little more epic in your Minecraft builds? Or maybe you just want to take a vacation without leaving your room? Either way, check out these four jaw-dropping Minecraft constructions.

The Peach Blossom Spring (By EpicWork)

Sometimes you want to fight hordes of zombie mobs, and sometimes you just want to chill out and explore. This map is definitely built for relaxation, with its serene river, beautiful peach blossom trees and towering Japanese castles. This is the perfect map to just wander through, discovering all the nooks and crannies after rage quitting a tough battle with the Ender Dragon.

HOW'S THE SERENITY?

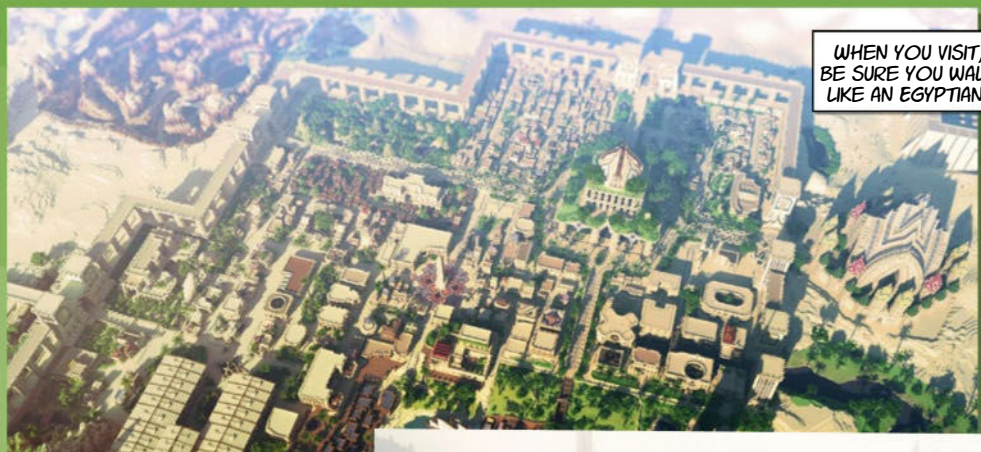

Cathedral (By Patrix)

It's common courtesy to keep your voice down when inside a cathedral – but thankfully, no one's here so we can yell “THIS IS AWESOME!” all we want in this wikkid build! This is one of the most detailed builds we've ever seen. And if you think it looks good on the outside, wait until you go inside and see the full library complete with rows upon rows of books. There's also a parkour route that leads to a secret location hidden inside the map.

THIS MAP IS PRETTY IN-SPIRE-ING!

STRUCTURES

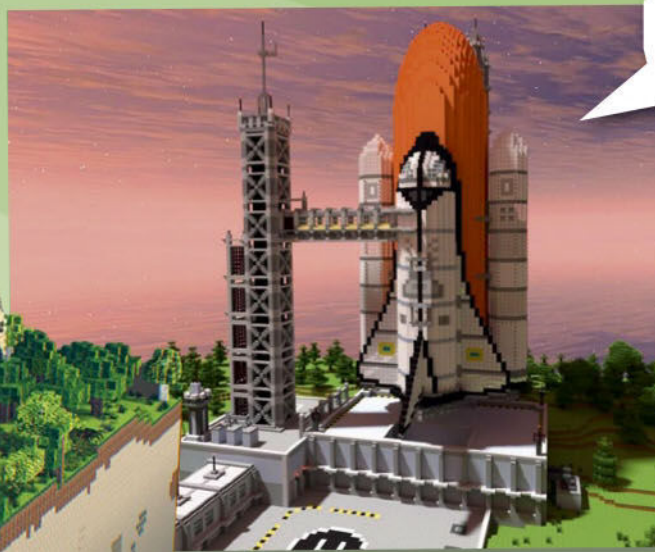

WHEN YOU VISIT,
BE SURE YOU WALK
LIKE AN EGYPTIAN!

La Momie (By Rastammole)

Inspired by ancient Egyptian and Babylonian structures, this city is an astounding build. We could spend hours walking the streets of La Momie, going from market stalls to docks to the epic garden temple in the middle of the city. It took around three months to build, and will probably take the same amount of time to discover all of its secrets. Get a few mates together and you've got a perfect map for a giant game of hide-and-seek.

Space Shuttle and Base (By Corpeh)

Houston, we have lift off! This scale reproduction of a NASA space shuttle is out of this world! But it isn't just a wikkid space shuttle – you can also check out the command centre and secret mountain base. We've always wanted to visit a NASA launch site, and now we can without leaving our living room!

JUST CAN'T WAIT TO BE KING!

We head to the African savannah and chat with Exodus Lale, who plays Young Simba in the Australian production of Disney's stage musical The Lion King.

Exodus landed the role of Young Simba at age 8, making him the youngest performer to portray the lion cub!

Get to know Exodus with his personal faves:

Video game: Minecraft.

TV show: Gamer's Guide to Pretty Much Everything.

Movie: The Nightmare Before Christmas and Richie Rich.

Superhero: Wolverine.

Food: Butter Chicken.

Animal: Panda.

Pizza topping: BBQ Meatlovers.

Earlier this year, Exodus took home the Golden Trophy for "Best Performance in Live Theatre - Young Actor" at the 37th Annual Gala Young Artist Awards!

MANIA: How did you get into acting?

EXODUS: "Lion King was my first gig. Before that I used to be involved in my church's youth plays."

M: What was the audition process like for the Lion King? Do you have any tips for overcoming nerves?

E: "The audition process was long, I had to wait 6 weeks until I was told that I got the part and had to travel to Sydney to rehearse. One tip is to walk into an audition well prepared and just be confident. Believe in yourself and remember to give it 100%."

M: Did you do anything special to become Simba, like roaring at passers-by?

E: "I would practice lines, singing and roaring at home with my brothers and cousins. They actually know all my lines and moves in the production, hahaha."

M: The make-up process looks like it takes awhile. How do you beat the boredom?

E: "I enjoyed getting made up by the make up team and would just talk to them about stuff outside of Lion King."

M: How do you hype yourself up before a performance?

E: "I would start singing from the car ride to the theatre and pray with my parents."

M: What do you like to do when you're not performing?

E: "When I'm not performing, I like to play basketball and football. I'm part of a youth group at my church, which I enjoy. I also play the piano and write songs. I love to sing and do song covers with my friend Sabrina, who plays Young Nala."

M: What's the most embarrassing thing that happened to you while performing?

E: "During one performance, I tripped over my own feet on stage but I just got back up and kept the dialogue going – very embarrassing."

M: Do you have a favourite song from the Lion King?

E: "'Shadowland', which is performed by Nala and Rafiki."

M: What's the secret to doing the perfect lion's roar?

E: "You need to have a bit of growl in your voice."

M: How close have you come to a real life lion?

E: "I've seen one at the zoo, but would love to go to South Africa to experience a safari."

M: Do you have any other special talents?

E: "I can stack and unstack plastic cups really quickly."

M: Are there any other Disney characters you'd love to play?

E: "I would love to play older Simba one day or Mowgli in The Jungle Book."

WHAT IS IT?

Monstrous is a card game where players battle for supremacy by reigning destruction down on the ancient cities of Greece! Players stand around the edge of a table and take turns throwing their monster cards onto the gameboard. The aim is to be the God with the most faith, which is gained by landing their cards on the available cities! These monster cards are based on the beasts of ancient Greek myth and legend, such as the Harpy, the Gorgon and the multi-headed Hellhound! You've gotta know when to hold'em, and know when to throw'em!

PROS:

It's a very easy game to learn, but definitely a challenge to play! The throwing aspect makes it much more active than your average boardgame, so if you're looking for something different and exciting this is a must play! Part of the game involves moving around the table at the end of each round, which helps balance the games' fairness depending on the shape of your table.

CONS:

The throwing mechanic takes some getting used to – there'll be a few too short or too long throws. After playing a few games, the small pool of monsters feels a bit stale. There are expansion packs planned, so they'll help bring some new faces into the fray!

Ice climbing is an extreme sport where climbers scale frozen ice walls. These ice walls are either waterfalls that have frozen due to the extremely cold weather, or snow that has frozen together on the side of mountains. Some of the ice is so strong that even the smallest of indents is enough to hold the climber's bodyweight. It's an incredibly dangerous sport, as climbers must deal with the freezing weather conditions, the slippery uneven surfaces, and the possibility of cracking the ice!

THE LEGEND OF TARZAN

Welcome to the jungle, MANIACs. It's time to stop monkeying around and discover the King of the Jungle!

CHILD OF THE JUNGLE

When a British lord and his pregnant wife are marooned in Africa, they build a treehouse to take shelter in. Unfortunately, they cannot withstand the harsh jungle environment and pass away shortly after the birth of their son. Their lonely son is then adopted by Great Apes, growing to become the jungle hero Tarzan!

JUNGLE WARRIOR

Growing up in the dangerous jungles of Africa, Tarzan has developed some serious abilities. He can climb, swing and leap just as well, sometimes even better, than any Great Ape. His strength, speed, reflexes and senses are all much higher than the average human's. He can even communicate with animals!

THE WORLD OF MAN

After falling in love with and marrying Jane Porter, Tarzan leaves. He's traded the wild jungles for the concrete jungle of London. But can the civilised world take the wilderness out of Tarzan?

Since 1918 there have been over 200 movies with Tarzan in the title!

Superman's creator Jerry Siegel named Tarzan as an inspiration for his famous superhero!

OI!

MAN OR BEAST?

To the animals of the African jungle he is known as Tarzan, which is a Great Ape name that means "White Skin" (Tar = white, Zan = skin). In the human world he goes by the name John Clayton III, Lord Greystoke. Not quite as heroic, is it?

WHAT'S SO GREAT ABOUT THESE APES?

Adult male gorillas (which are also known as silverbacks) can grow to be around 2.6m tall and weigh up to a whopping 180kg.

They have an arm span of about 2.6m and can lift up to six times more than the average human. If a gorilla ever asks you for a banana, we recommend giving it to them.

My abs will take you on!

Captain Rom is based on an actual person. He was just as evil in real-life too.

THE EVIL THAT MEN DO

The Belgian Captain Léon Rom has come to the Congo pretending to be a philanthropist – but he's actually a bloodthirsty soldier who will take whatever he wants by force. Rom kidnaps Jane, intending to use her as a bargaining chip to force Tarzan to help him.

RETURN OF THE KING

With his wife kidnapped and his home in danger, Tarzan must return to the jungle that raised him. But he's just one man – how can he face Captain Rom and his army?

The Legend of Tarzan is directed by David Yates, who also directed the final four Harry Potter movies and the upcoming spinoff Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them.

THE PRANK ZONE

BLOW UP YOUR WHOOPEE CUSHIONS, AND GET READY TO GO PRANKIN'!

BROKEN - DO NOT USE

Sometimes the simplest pranks are the best. Print out some official looking OUT OF ORDER or BROKEN - DO NOT USE signs and stick them up everywhere. We recommend bathroom doors or on toilet seats!

SCARY SHADOWS

Cut out the silhouettes of cockroaches and spiders, and tape them to the inside of a lampshade. When your victim turns on the lamp they'll be shocked to see a huge bug chilling out!

HIT SNOOZE!

This one takes a bit of prep, but it's well worth it, YAKs. Set as many different alarms as possible and hide them in random spots around the house (in cupboards, under beds). Watch as everyone loses their minds trying to find them!

WARNING: POSSIBLE REACTION FROM YOUR VICTIMS!

A REAL SURPRISE!

Tape a scary photo onto the inside of the toilet lid. The next time someone uses the toilet, they're in for a bit of a shock! Make sure you put the lid down!

YUM, MOULDY BREAD!

Want to freak out all your schoolmates during lunchtime? Drop some dark green food dye on your sandwich so it looks like you've contracted a nasty case of mould. Now take a bite and watch their faces go green.

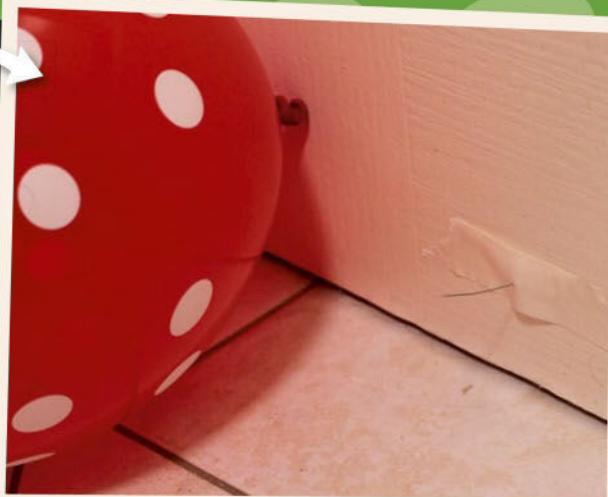

FOILED, AGAIN

Got an older brother or sister who won't let you touch their gaming console or iPad? Just cover it in foil! If you really want to bug them, wrap all their underpants and socks in foil too!

POP ON IN

How's this for an explosive entrance? Stick a pin on the back of a closed door and place a balloon where it touches the wall. The next time someone opens the door they'll get a bit of a shock!

QUIT BUGGIN' ME

Hide fake bugs EVERYWHERE. In the fridge, in mugs, in cupboards – everywhere! If you can get away with it, freeze the bugs in ice-cubes and serve to your unsuspecting victims!

CRACK

THE WILD BEASTS OF WONDERLAND

Beware the Jabberwock, the most fearsome beast in all of Wonderland! The original illustrations for this man-eating monster depict it as a hodge-podge of different animals – the body of a dragon, a head like a fish, rabbit teeth, insect-like antennae and bird talons for hands. It can only be defeated if struck by a vorpal blade.

During her adventures in Wonderland, Alice meets a strange creature known as the Mock Turtle, who has the body of a turtle, but has the head, hooves and tail of a cow. His name is a reference to a mid-18th century soup, which was made from calf heads and feet to imitate turtle soup.

THE INSIDE SUPER SCOOP!

This year has given us some of the biggest superhero movies of all time, with plenty more to come! We've hacked the Bat-computer to get our hands on some juicy details!

WHO WILL SPIDEY TEAM UP WITH NEXT?

OUR SPIDER-SENSE IS TINGLING!

Due out in July 2017, the new Spider-Man movie has an official subtitle: Homecoming. If you dug Spidey hanging out with Iron Man in Civil War, we've got good news for you. Tony Stark is set to appear alongside our friendly neighbourhood wall-crawler in the new movie.

Were you bummed that Hulk and Thor weren't in Civil War? (We were!) Good news, the two will be teaming up next year in Thor: Ragnarok. There aren't many details available, but you know there's gonna be some epic smashing!

JOIN THE DARK SIDE!

Remember that AWSM dream-sequence from Batman vs Superman? Keen eyed viewers might have noticed the giant symbol burnt into the wasteland. That's the Omega Symbol, the logo for the DC universe's biggest and baddest supervillain: Darkseid. We also get a glimpse of his lackeys, the Parademons. Will the ruler of Apokolips appear in the Justice League?

IS IT A SIGN FROM DARKSEID?

WHAT WILL GROOT JAM TO THIS TIME?

BRING THE NOISE!

We all loved Peter Quill's Awesome Mix Vol. 1 from Guardians of the Galaxy. Director James Gunn has confirmed that we'll be getting an Awesome Mix Vol. 2 with the GotG sequel next year! Um, awesome!

WALLABIES LEGEND!

Bernard Foley Stats

Position: Fly-half

Height: 178cm (5' 10")

Weight: 88kg

Date of Birth: 08 Sep 1989

Place of Birth: Sydney, Australia

Teams: NSW Waratahs, Sydney

University, Aus 7s

When Australia played England at last year's Rugby World Cup, the Wallabies won 33-13. Bernard Foley (pictured) scored 28 of Australia's points!

Be sure to ask your parent's permission before downloading or uploading anything on the internet!

This is a guide for PCs and Macs only! Sorry, console fans.

EXCLUSIVE GUIDE!

HOW 2 LET'S PLAY!

If you're like us, you've no doubt watched plenty of Let's Play vids on Youtube. But have you ever wondered how they're made? Wonder no more, because we're gonna tell you how it's done, YAKS!

WHAT DO YOU NEED?

CAPTURING VIDEO

This depends on what type of computer you have. If you're not sure, ask your parents.

FOR PC USERS: O3DGear, NVIDIA GeForce ShadowPlay and Loilo Game Recorder are all great programs for recording your screen. ShadowPlay and Loilo offer FREE versions that are quite easy to use. O3DGear offers a trial version with limited features, but you need to pay to upgrade.

FOR MAC USERS: Macs come with Quicktime Player installed, which is great because you can use it for screen capture! Just open the program and hit "New Screen Recording."

Be sure to speak in a clear, confident voice! It's no fun when your audience can't hear what you're saying!

RECORDING AUDIO

- Most laptops come with a built-in microphone you can use. Or, use a pair of headphones that come with a microphone.
- To record audio, use the program Audacity. It's free, easy to use and runs on both PC and Mac.

When it comes to playing the game, you have two options:

- 1) You can record live-commentary while you're playing the game. This is great for surprises if you're playing a game you've never played before.
- 2) You can do post-commentary, which is when you record your audio AFTER you've filmed footage and edited it together. This is a great way to avoid awkward pauses and dead air.

Never EVER give out personal information like your address or full name! Use a screen-name, like Pewdiepie or Stampy.

PUT IT ALL TOGETHER

After you record the video, you can use programs like Windows Movie Maker or iMovie to combine your audio and video footage. Now upload it to YouTube!

HINTS AND TIPS

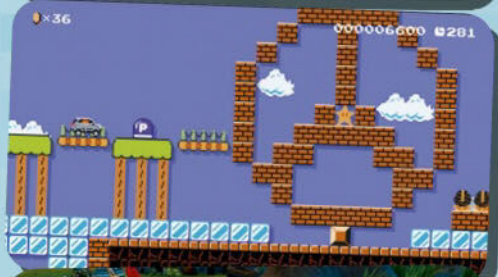

Now that we've gotten the technical stuff out of the way, here are some tips to record the best Let's Play you can!

CHOOSING A GAME

- This is the most important part of the Let's Play. Try and pick something that isn't popular (we're looking at you, Minecraft). Dare to be different!
- Make sure the game isn't too repetitive. No one wants to watch you play a million games of Tetris! That's boring, bro!
- But most of all make sure it's a game you love to play!

RECORDING THE LET'S PLAY

- Don't just describe what is happening on screen. That's boring, yo! Have some fun with it!
- React to things that happen to you! Did you beat a hard boss and then lose to a super easy enemy? Make it a big deal!
- Don't try to force the humour. Let your jokes come naturally! If you play a really bad game, talk about what makes it so hilariously bad!
- Talk about useful tips and cheats. Is there a secret way to beat a level? Show and tell us how to do it!
- Do you know any interesting facts about the game? Was it made by a man who has no arms and lives in a cave? Tell us about that!
- Record it with one of your mates! That way you can bounce funny banter off of one another.

The most important thing to do is have fun! If you're not enjoying yourself, your audience probably aren't either.

Minecraft: Story Mode Gets Longer!

Fans of Minecraft: Story Mode will be happy to hear that there are three more episodes coming now that the first five are out! You'll need to pay a bit of extra money for them, but they extend the adventures of Jesse and his mates in the Order of the Stone!

PlayStation VR Coming In October!

The PlayStation 4's VR helmet is coming in October, and first shipments are already selling out! You'll really need to save up your pocket money though, YAKs – it's going to cost $550 at launch, the same price as the console when it first came out! We might have to wait a Christmas or two!

Final Fantasy XV Looks HOT!

We're super excited to have a release date for the next Final Fantasy game – it's September 30! There's also an anime based on the game now available online, and a full CGI movie with Hollywood stars attached due later this year! It looks AWSM, and there's a new demo available now on PS4 and Xbox One!

Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles: Mutants in Manhattan

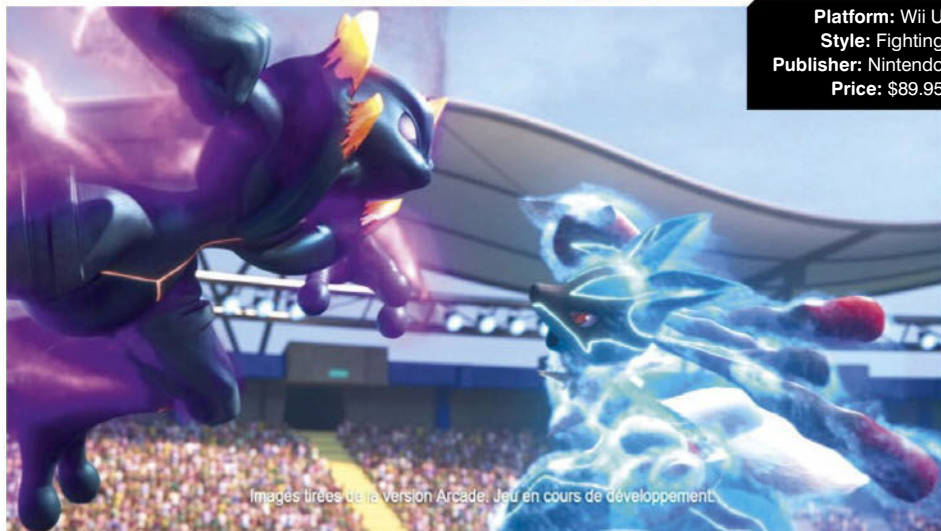

Mutants in Manhattan offers something a bit different from previous TMNT games! This time the levels are big and open, and filled with different kinds of missions – sometimes you have to beat enemies, but sometimes you have to do weirder things, like rolling a giant bag of stolen money back to the bank! Each turtle has their own unique special moves, and the developers Platinum are legendary for designing cool combat, so fighting bad dudes should be super fun, especially when playing with friends!

Platform: 3DSStyle: Action/RPGPublisher: NintendoOut: Winter

Monster Hunter Generations

The next Monster Hunter game is a mix of old and new elements from the series – it'll be missing some of the features from MH4, but that's so that the developers can create a unique experience! There'll even be a new mode that lets you play as a Felyne. The warrior cats of the Monster Hunter world should have you LOLing! It'll be pretty hard though – if you're after a less difficult experience, the anime-inspired Monster Hunter Stories should release next year!

Platform: Wii U
Style: Fighting
Publisher: Nintendo
Price: $89.95

Images tirées de la version Arcade. Jeu en cours de développement.

Pokkén Tournament

Gameplay: Woo – we've always wanted to control our favourite Pokémon while they fight on the big screen, and now we can! Pokkén Tournament is from the rad developers of Tekken, and it pits 16 Pokémon against each other in epic battles! Even if you're not a big fighting game player, Pokkén Tournament is pretty easy to get into – all of your special moves are pretty easy to do, and the game has a great tutorial mode that teaches you everything you need to know. You can assign other Pokémon to assist you in battle, and use Mega Evolution to get extra strong. We felt like experts after a few hours! There isn't a whole lot to do in single-player mode aside from fighting over and over again, but Pokkén Tournament is better if you can play with some mates or family. We had heaps of fun testing out all the characters against each other!

Graphics: The monsters in this game have never looked better! We loved testing out all their different attacks and Mega Evolutions! We thought the backgrounds could have looked a bit cooler, but then you won't be focusing much on the backgrounds when you're dodging Charizard's fireballs!

HOT!

A fighting game that's fun for everyone!

NOT!

Could use more single player modes!

Xbox One/360, Wii U

Style: Action

Price: $34.95

Disney Infinity 3.0: Marvel Battlegrounds

Gameplay: Wow – Marvel Battlegrounds is a pretty huge shake-up for Disney Infinity! This isn't like the Star Wars Play Sets, or even the previous Marvel one – this is more like a fighting game, where every level is set in an arena that robotic versions of your favourite Marvel heroes are trying to take over! This means that you can bring in all your favourite Marvel characters from 2.0 and fight against every Marvel character released so far! Each character has unique moves and stats, and any upgrades you've applied carry over! Outside of the story mode there's a battle mode that lets you pick and play as some of the characters that you don't have the figurines for as well – you'll need the figurine to play as them anytime you want, but trying out Black Panther and Vision without popping down money is a sweet bonus!

Graphics: We're big fans of Disney Infinity's cool chunky art style, and we're really happy at how Battlegrounds plays around with them! There are camera zooms for special attacks, goofy cutscenes, and heaps of cameo appearances from other heroes! Seeing all of our Marvel figurines duke it out in all sorts of arenas made us really happy!

Platform: PS4,
Xbox One, PC
Style: Racing
Publisher: Ubisoft
Price: $59.95

Trackmania Turbo

Gameplay: Trackmania has been around for a while YAKs, but this is the first time it's popped up on Xbox and PlayStation! Turbo is a really great version of Trackmania, and we found that once we started we couldn't stop! The track designs are super crazy, and they get super hard – you need to finish all of them as fast as you can! We loved working out how to get through them, driving up walls, around loops, and over massive jumps! You can even go online and take on up to 99 opponents, to see who can get the best time possible on each level! There's a track creator too, so you can make your other courses and share them with your mates. It works super well on console, but it's still hard to make something cool – luckily though the game can create courses for you as well!

Graphics: Trackmania Turbo is a colourful, exciting game! The crazy courses look great, even when you're going super fast and they're zipping past you! This game has a really great sense of speed, which makes it really exciting to play and to watch! This one has surprised us, YAKs – it's the best wacky racing game in ages!

Day of the Tentacle Remastered

We love a good blast from the past YAKs, so we were super excited to jump into this classic adventure game with wonderful new graphics! It's pretty hard, so you'll probably want to look up a guide online for some of the really crazy puzzles, but that's okay – following the three characters as they travel through time and solve super smart puzzles is heaps of fun! The script had us LOLing super hard too – it's got some of the best characters in gaming!

Hyrule Warriors Legends

Warning to 3DS Zelda fans – Hyrule Warriors is still fun on 3DS, but only if you have a new 3DS! On older 3DS models, the game runs really poorly and can't do 3D – if you're playing on one, this is a 5/10 game! Even on a new 3DS it's not as good as the Wii U version, but there are new characters and you can swap between them in the middle of battle now, which makes it easier to move around the map fast!

This is a really cool idea for a game – when you hold your phone sideways you're playing an action game with the Powerpuff Girls, but flip it the other way and the game transforms into a Match 3 puzzle game, letting you take on enemies in both forms! This is AWSM stuff!

SCORE 9/10

LEGO Jurassic World

iOS/Android,
Action/Adventure,
$7.99

We're always happy to see the LEGO games make their way to mobile devices! LEGO Jurassic World is a great game for fans of the series, and if you have a fairly recent phone or tablet it runs quite well! It's still better on consoles, but the mobile version is plenty of fun.

Miitomo is Nintendo's first proper app, and we're having a lot of fun with it! Miitomo lets you answer questions and share them with your friends, while dressing up your Mii in new clothes and earning points to spend on Nintendo games. We added all our mates and LOL'd at their Miis!

THE BOY AND THE BEAST

WE HEAD TO THE BEAST KINGDOM TO LEARN EVERYTHING WE CAN ABOUT ONE OF THE BEST ANIME MOVIES OF THE YEAR!

WHAT'S IT ABOUT?

Ren, a young orphaned boy living on the streets of busy Shibuya, meets the fearsome beast warrior Kumatetsu.

Offering to make Ren his apprentice, Kumatetsu takes him to the Beast Kingdom, a magical realm that exists parallel to ours!

THE BEAST LORD

The Beast Kingdom is ruled by the Beast Lord, who has decided to retire. To appoint a successor, the Beast Lord has two potential candidates: Iôzen, a popular and charismatic warrior, or Kumatetsu, a powerful fighter who is disliked due to his gruff and slobbish nature. Who will he pick – and why?

Nice tonsils, bro!

MASTER AND STUDENT

Kumatetsu takes on Ren as his student, as the Beast Lord suggests it might help him to become the new ruler of the Beast Kingdom. The only problem is, Kumatetsu doesn't know how to teach!

KENDO? CAN DO!

In the Beast Kingdom, the Lord forbids anyone from unsheathing their swords in a fight. This doesn't mean they still can't use them! Kumatetsu trains Ren in the Japanese martial art of kendo. In kendo, you use a bamboo sword to make precise strikes against certain parts of your opponent's protective armour.

After Ren enters the Beast Kingdom he can no longer return to the human realm! Will he ever go back to his home realm? Does he even want to?

AWESOME ACTION

Everyone loves a bit of exciting anime action, and The Boy and The Beast has it in spades! Every fight is beautifully animated and looks absolutely AWSM. Trust us, you'll be begging for more.

THE NEXT MIYAZAKI?

If you're a fan of Studio Ghibli films, The Boy and The Beast is a must-watch. Its director, Mamoru Hosoda, is thought to be the next Hayao Miyazaki! He's just that good, bros!

A PIECE OF THE ACTION

Keen-eared anime fans might notice a few familiar One Piece voices in The Boy and The Beast's English dub. It features the same voice-actors for the Straw Hat Pirates Sanji (Eric Vale) and Nami (Luci Christian), and the leader of the Baroque Works crime syndicate Sir Crocodile (John Swasey).

The Boy and The Beast will be available in the human realm on DVD and Blu-ray July 6th!

THE KING OF KONG

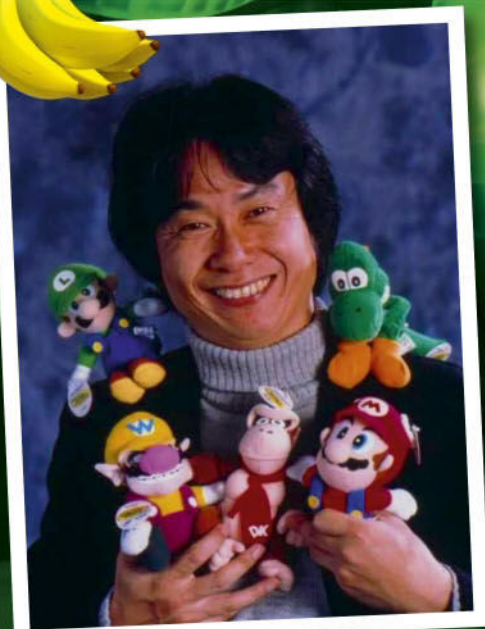

July 9th is the 35th anniversary for everyone's favourite gaming gorilla, Donkey Kong! To celebrate we've gone bananas and collected a whole bunch of DK facts!

The original Donkey Kong arcade cabinet was released in 1981. Despite being the title character, Donkey Kong was actually the game's villain.

Cranky Kong is actually Donkey Kong from the original arcade games! The current Donkey Kong is his grandson.

Donkey Kong was the first game designed by Shigeru Miyamoto, who would go on to become one of the most important game designers of all time. He also designed Nintendo franchises such as Super Mario, The Legend of Zelda and Star fox.

Have you always wondered why his name is Donkey? Miyamoto thought the name "Donkey" would make it sound like Kong was either stupid or stubborn. He was hoping the name would translate to be "Big Stupid Ape."

In Donkey Kong Returns 3D, if you put down the controller and leave the game idle DK will sit down and start playing a Nintendo DS. If you listen hard enough, you can hear the sound effects from the original Donkey Kong arcade game!

Have you ever wondered what animals the DK Crew are based on? Donkey Kong is a gorilla, Diddy Kong is a spider monkey and Dixie Kong is a chimpanzee.

Nintendo owns the phrase, "It's on like Donkey Kong!"

Donkey Kong first wore his famous red necktie in 1994. Hopefully he's washed it since then.

Look familiar? The Nintendo DS's design is based on their multi-screen Game & Watch handhelds, which were released in 1982!

On the Train Week One: Thursday

I'm on the train speeding towards school. I think I'm even more nervous today than I was yesterday and not just because it's my first time catching a train by myself. Today will be our first full day of classes as well as our first Football Skills and Fitness class. I can't wait to get out on that pristine, green pitch but at the same time I can't help wondering just how good all the other kids will be.

The train pulls into a station and I jump out of my seat when a lunatic starts thumping my window with his fist. Then I realise the lunatic is Bazzo. He waves excitedly, then hops on board.

'Football brother!' he shouts at me happily. The crowded carriage of school kids and business people all turn to stare at us.

All the way to school, we talk about Premier League results and Messi's greatest goals. Suddenly we're pulling into Thornberry station. From there it's a ten-minute walk to the NSF campus.

When we arrive at school, the main quad is buzzing. Everyone seems excited about our first Football Skills class. I also notice a few senior students wandering around or chatting to each other in little clumps. Jase explained in homeroom yesterday that this year, while most of the students at the school are in year seven, there is also one hand-picked year 11 class starting as well. These students are practically superstars already. Most of them play in the NSW state team and some are Joeys – that's the name of the Under 17s Socceroos squad. Jase said two of the boys even have A-League contracts! One of the seniors with legs as long as my whole body and actual facial hair notices me staring and gives me a weird look so I quickly turn away.

When the bell goes, all of year seven head down to the sparkling green NSF soccer fields. The school has its own greenkeeper, whose sole job is to look after the six practice fields and the main match-day pitch which has a large grandstand as well as its own kiosk and office. Whatever he's doing, he should get a pay rise. I've never seen grass so green before. He must water it every hour!

As Bazzo and I walk down to the fields, I notice a few kids pointing at me and whispering to themselves. I decide to try to ignore it. Maybe they'll eventually just forget who my dad is . . .

'Guess who?' says a raspy, high-pitched voice in my ear. Someone has covered my eyes from behind.

'Principal Vale?' I ask.

'Ha! Principal Vale! Classic! No, it's just me,' says the voice, relinquishing control of my eyes and leaping out in front of me. I realise it's that blonde girl from our homeroom I met yesterday.

'Um . . . Lexi, right?' I say.

'Yeah. Or Lex. Whatever.' She smiles at me and stares intently for a moment, making me wonder if I've grown a second head.

'You know, my family are crazy Arsenal fans. So am I,' she says. 'One day after school you should totally come hang out at my house. My dad would go nuts!'

'Yeah, maybe,' I say looking desperately for an escape hatch. I spot one in the form of Bazzo. 'There's my friend. Gotta go help him find his . . . thing.'

Okay, no one's going to forget that I'm Shane Young's son.

I run towards Bazzo as quickly as possible.

Waiting for us on the fields are the four house teachers.

'All right, year seven, listen up,' says Jase. 'First we'll be doing some warm-up laps, then we'll be moving on to your first skills session. We'll be starting with the skills a lot of you already know: striking the ball, first touch, running with the ball and one-on-one tactics. So that you can learn to sharpen those skills, this term we'll be having a mixed five-a-side in-school futsal comp. The winning team will get their names engraved on the inaugural Futsal Champions Cup.'

There are a few oohs and aahs from everyone and some excited chattering.

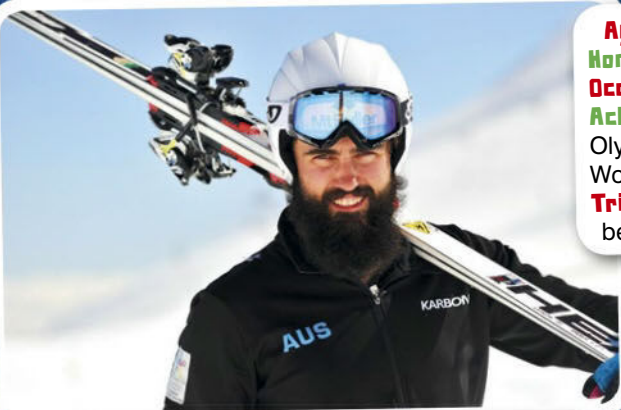

'Well, what are you waiting for? Start running! Three laps!' says Jase.
